Love/Sick

by John Cariani / directed by Mathilde Berry

Set in a suburban alternate reality on a Friday night, Love/Sick is a realistically absurd play made up of nine independent scenes about love and loss.

Shining a light on people's minor and major shortcomings – and their (un)willingness to overcome them – it is all about new beginnings, second chances, and big emotions. About the daily madness of sharing your life with another person, and the unusual ordinariness of putting your heart on the line.

About people who are desperately confident that things are going to go bad, but who are still fighting like heck to make sure that they don't.

A play about romantics. A very funny tragedy.
