"I have to have a choice."

One man, one woman – and endless possibilities how their relationship could unfold. Roland and Marianne hit it off at a barbecue and decide to make a go of it – or do they? Constellations explores the magic of the roads not taken, inviting us to imagine that, in a stunning multitude of possibilities, they could all be out there. Every choice we did and didn't make might be playing out somewhere in the multiverse ...

Over the course of this nine-performance run, three different couples show us their take on this touching, playful drama that ingeniously manages to combine quantum physics with a multi-layered love story.

Constellations was named best play at the 2012 Evening Standard Theatre Awards.
